AGITATE CHANGE IN MARKET RULES

May Change Ordinance to Permit Selling at Any Hour.

WILL HEAR OBJECTIONS

Damages to Frank Penn For Injury to Horse on His Proof of Ownership of The Animal.

Agitation for a change in the ordinance controlling the curb market was introduced to the Council Wednesday evening and as a result it was decided to hold a public hearing on the question at the next meeting of the body which will probably be early next week. It was the opinion of several members of the Council that farmers attending market should have the privilege of selling their products when they reach the curb and not be compelled to wait until the fixed time for opening which is six o'clock.

It was indicated that a motion authorizing the ordinance committee to frame a new clause and eliminating that referring to the time of opening the market would be introduced at the next meeting. Councilmen expressed the desire to hear objections to the proposed change.

Many plans of handling the curb market, which has become an asset to the town during the summer months, have been in use. At one time the market opened at five o'clock in the morning. This arrangement apparently suited the farmer, but a number of town people objected on the grounds that it was too early, while the farmer preferred the early hour so he could get back to work sooner.

Award $25 Damages

Damages to the amount of $25 sought by Frank Penn for injury to the horse he was driving more than a month ago when it broke through a wooden culvert on Fourth street were awarded by the Council "to Frank Penn or the owner of the horse." At the time the claim for damages were made Mr. Penn was not certain as to the ownership of the animal, but declared he thought it was his as the former possessor of the horse owed him more than it was worth for taking care of it. In order to meet this condition the words "to Frank Penn or the owner" were placed in the motion.

Although no definite action was taken, it was the opinion of the members present that a committee should call upon State Highway Commissioner Sadler to find out the status of the street paving question. No official word has been received as to the attitude of the commissioner toward the bids submitted for the Gettysburg job which includes nearly 4,000 feet of improvement on the Emmitsburg road.

Street Paving Problem

It is known that the low bidder, the Souder Construction Company and the next low bidder, the Continental firm, submitted figures for a concrete surface. The third bid which was some $7,000 higher, it is said, was for an asphalt finish. While it is known the Highway Department favors the asphalt street for boroughs, a committee from the Council will probably go to Harrisburg to discuss the type of street and prices with Mr. Sadler.

BAZAAR OPENS

Branch of General Woman's League Start Their Sale.

The local branch of the General Woman's League of Pennsylvania College at 9.00 o'clock this morning opened their two day bazaar in the Photoplay building, Baltimore street, and found a ready sale for their candy, cake, food, fancy work, aprons, towels and other articles.

Tonight will be "Students Night" and ice cream will be added to the list of saleable eatables.

MAY GO TO PLATTSBURG

Captain Shelby M. Tuttle, former commander of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at College, has been unofficially notified that he will be assistant senior instructor at the summer camp at Plattsburg. Major Courtland Nixon, retired, U. S. A., has succeeded Captain Tuttle as professor of military science at College.

FINISH PLANS FOR NEW EAGLE UNIT

Officials Will Ask Bids For Gettysburg Addition April 15.

GIVE $1,000 TO HOSPITAL

Promise of Another $1,000 Comes From Headquarters of Silk Company in Shamokin.

Plans for the addition to the Gettysburg silk throwing plant of the J. H. and C. K. Eagle Company have been completed and bids for the job will be asked for April 15.

This information was received today from Joseph H. Jones, of Shamokin, one of the officials of the Eagle Company, by President Roy P. Funkhouser and Secretary George C. Fissel, of the local Chamber of Commerce.

In this letter Mr. Jones also states that the Eagle company has donated $1,000 to the Annie M. Warner hospital endowment fund and will pay this amount in five years in installments of $200 each. He further stated that the contribution to the hospital will be doubled if the additional unit to the local plant can be completed in a comparatively short time.

Less than a month ago the Eagle officials wrote to Mr. Funkhouser asking him if the people of Gettysburg were still in sympathy with the Eagle plant here and intended giving it their co-operation permanently. They also wanted to know at that time if it would be advisable to attempt the sale of more bonds.

Mr. Funkhouser replied that in view of existing business depression and the consequent "tight" money in Gettysburg he thought it would be using poor judgment to ask the people to buy more bonds. The Eagle company has replied to the local Chamber officials:

"In answer to your letter we beg to again advise that the subject of additional Bond Issue is secondary in our

ON INITIAL TRIP

College Will Meet Bucknell, Susquehanna And Penn State.

Coach Ira Plank, Manager Allen Starr and twelve members of the college baseball team left Gettysburg this morning for Lewisburg to open their season against Bucknell University. R. J. Wise, Calvin Plowman, Ross Sheely, Samuel Shaulis, Jack Kyle, Lester Gingerich, Paul Redcay, George Mordan, Ralph Stover, Henry Hersh, Leon Keiser and Philip Myers made the trip. Twelve of the men went by automobile, Plowman and Myers being the pair left to take the morning eastern bound Western Maryland train.

Coach Plank made no definite announcement concerning his selections but it is believed he will work Sheely against Bucknell, Plowman against Susquehanna and Wise against Penn State. All three opposing teams, especially State, are strong this year.

Those of the team, Sheely and Stover, are Gettysburg boys.

SCHOOL CHILDREN AT PARTY

Fed Nearly 1500 People At Department Store.

Nearly one thousand children from the high, public and parochial schools of Gettysburg thronged the Department Store on Wednesday to take advantage of the ice cream, cake and sandwiches offered to them on "Children's Day". Not only children, but also many adults attended the second annual "party" of the Department Store, the total of visitors being estimated at about fifteen hundred.

The sales of the day exceeded those of opening day last year, according to statements by J. F. Hartman, manager.

Today will mark the close of the "party."

THE following committee has been elected to take charge of the Hand in Hand Playground for the coming summer. Mrs. Hannah Brown, president; Mrs. Amanda Myers, secretary; Mrs. Mazie Johnston, treasurer.—advertisement 1

MISSION WORKERS IN CONVENTION

Many Pennsylvania Towns And Cities Represented by Presbyterian Delegates.

The forty fourth annual assembly of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Carlisle formally opened this afternoon in the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church.

Approximately one hundred and fifty women from Gettysburg, Harrisburg, Carlisle, Lebanon, Chambersburg, Shippensburg, Steelton, Duncannon, Williamson, Lemasters, Middletown, Waynesboro, Paxtang, Hershey, Mechanicsburg and Camp Hill were in attendance.

Prior to the formal opening the visiting women were conducted on a tour over the battlefield in the morning. Following the trip the delegates and visitors registered their names, residences and congregations. Their reception was in charge of the general entertainment or hospitality committee comprising Mrs. J. P. Dalbey, Mrs. E. W. Thomas, Mrs. J. Donald Swope, Mrs. J. P. Bigham and Mrs. C. Ross Shuman.

At noon the delegates were served luncheon by the ladies of the Gettysburg and Marsh Creek Presbyterian Churches under whose joint auspices the convention is being held.

The initial services starting at 1:30 o'clock consisted of a devotional service; roll call and reading of minutes by Miss Margaret A. West, recording secretary; report of synodical meeting by Mrs. Edward Bailey; report of treasurer by Miss Mary W. Kerr; report of young women's societies and Westminster guilds by Miss Emma Hays Heck; Bible study, Mrs. John Y. Boyd; address by Miss Bessie Hille, of Shanghai, China; appointment of committees; and children's hour.

Prior to the actual opening the executive board met in session.

Tonight Dwight H. Day will speak on "The Present Situation in China and Japan."

STATE OFFICIALS HERE

Auditor General And Banking Commissioner Visit Local Hospital.

Under the guidance of Robert C. Miller, state superintendent of public printing and binding, three men prominent in the affairs of Pennsylvania visited the Annie M. Warner hospital late Wednesday afternoon. The officials who came here by automobile from Harrisburg with Mr. Miller were Samuel Lewis, auditor general; Senator Fisher, state banking commissioner; and Judge Langley, of Clearfield county.

After a thorough inspection of the institution the four men left Gettysburg for Abbottstown where they ate supper, proceeding from the eastern county town to York and thence to Harrisburg.

VOLUNTEER WORKMEN

Students Helping in Excavation Work at Y. M. C. A. Site.

Under the supervision of the College Y. M. C. A. headed by President P. M. Willard, the students of the institution are daily donating time and labor during the excavation at the Weidensall Y. M. C. A. building site. The first group of students went to work Wednesday afternoon.

According to the present program the students will go on duty as foundation diggers whenever called upon by the head of their boarding clubs. The schedule has been arranged according to board clubs instead of classes and each organization will get its chance to aid in hastening the progress of excavation.

NOT AT CONVENTION

Professors Roth and Shank Too Busy At Present.

Owing to the fact that they are in the midst of the task of correcting the one hundred and twenty six papers submitted by the pupils who took the examination here last Saturday, Superintendent of Schools H. Milton Roth, and his assistant, W. Raymond Shank, are unable to attend the Schoolmen's Convention opening today in Philadelphia. Mr. Roth and Mr. Shank had previously made arrangements to attend the convention but were obliged to cancel them.

MAKING CROOKED LIMBS STRAIGHT

Twenty Crippled Children at Hospital Wednesday Was Sad Spectacle.

THEY ALL HOPE TO WALK

But Some Are Hopeless Cases. Famous Surgeon May Come Here if Parents Consent to Operations.

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast."

No more vivid demonstration of the truth of this familiar quotation was ever shown in Adams county than at the Annie M. Warner Hospital Wednesday afternoon when twenty crippled children assembled there to be examined by Emil Gefvert, expert brace maker of Philadelphia.

Lined up along the downstairs corridor of the Hospital these children with arms and legs shrivelled by the ravages of that dreaded disease—infantile paralysis—showed in their shining faces that they were hoping against hope that the work of the expert from the big city would enable them either to walk or at least to benefit by the use of crutches.

Children of all ages and children suffering from all conceivable bone diseases were there in the lower corridor when Mr. Gefvert arrived at one o'clock to commence his three hours and a quarter of concentrated activity. Sixteen was the total of children accompanied by their parents who first greeted the Philadelphia expert but four others arrived later to benefit by the treatment.

Pathetic Sight

This array of crippled children was a pathetic sight and one that could only be appreciated by the persons who were present as members of the family or hospital assistants and had the opportunity of accompanying the children to the room where the braces were fitted.

"I never had the slightest idea," said one of the men whose son was there to secure a brace for his leg, "that there were so many pitiful cripples in Adams county as there are here this afternoon. I understand also that this number is only half of the total in our county as a member of the Red Cross tells me they have discovered about fifty such cases."

Some Hopeless Cases

There were children present at the clinic ranging in age from several months to sixteen years. The latter class was by far the more pitiful as in some cases it was evident that the pa-

BLIND COMPOSER HERE

Adam Geibel Will Give Recital at St. James Tonight.

Adam Geibel, celebrated blind composer, of Philadelphia, will give a lecture-recital this evening in the St. James Lutheran Church under the auspices of the Men's Brotherhood. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Pipe organ numbers will make up the first part of the program. In the second part he will lecture on the subject, "The Story of My Life." The last division of the program is composed of vocal and instrumental numbers composed by Dr. Geibel. He will compose extemporaneously, without the use of an instrument, a new tune and harmony for a verse of any well known hymn, dictating it to his secretary. The new composition will be sung by the audience as the last number.

No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken.

WANT TREES AND SHRUBBERY

Need Elephant Leaves and Cannas Also At Hospital.

Good sized trees, cannas, elephant leaves and shrubbery are wanted at the hospital to beautify the lawn.

This announcement was made today by Dr. J. A. Singmaster, president of the Board of Directors, who expressed the hope that the people would be as liberal with those contributions as they had with money.

In the meantime the work on the driveways and lawn at the hospital continues to progress.

Abblin Light Firm Taken Over By Dillsburg Electric. Buy The Stock.

The Abblin Light company, formed several months ago by residents of Abbottstown and East Berlin and vicinity with a capital stock of $15,000 has been absorbed by the Dillsburg Electric Light and Power company.

The stock was bought by the Dillsburg company, giving six per cent bonds to the Abblin stockholders. The Dillsburg company will start work on building the line to Abbottstown and East Berlin within a few weeks, furnishing all the material and labor.

East Berlin borough council has contracted with the Dillsburg company to supply the town with current and lamps at the rate of $500 a year, and Abbottstown has contracted for light at an annual rate of $300. The distance from Dillsburg to East Berlin is twelve miles.

DENIES KILLING ELEVEN

Georgia Plantation Owner Takes Stand in Own Behalf.

(By Associated Press)

Covington, Georgia, April 7—John S. Williams plantation owner on trial for the murder of one of eleven negro farm hands alleged to have been killed through fear of an expose of peonage conditions on his farm, took the stand here today in his own behalf.

"Like most farmers," he said, "I have bonded out negroes and worked them. Most Georgia farmers are technically guilty of peonage under definitions of the term given me by federal agents."

The witness denied knowledge of the killing of his three farm hands said by Clyde Manning, Williams' negro farm boss and star witness for the state, to have been bound and thrown into a river with rocks tied to them. Discovery of the bodies of two of them in the river led to the present trial. Manning testified that Williams drove the motor car in which the men were taken to a bridge and helped put them over the rail. Williams testified the last he saw of the three negroes was when they came to him the night before they disappeared and said they wanted to visit their homes but would return. He gave them $5 and another employe and Manning fifty cents each.

BOY SCOUT NIGHT

Their Demonstration Will Feature Parent-Teachers Meeting.

Friday night will be "Boy Scout Night" at the April meeting of the Gettysburg Parent-Teachers Association in the High School auditorium.

Professor Albert Billheimer and Frank Kramer, scout masters, will be there with their troops and at the close of the program will supervise a demonstration of the scouts, including knot tying, first aid, bandaging, fireman's lift, fireman's carry, stretcher work, signaling with lights and flags.

Dr. Charles H. Huber will address the Scouts and the persons present at the meeting on "The Ways and Means of Eliminating the Mosquito", while Dr. Billheimer will speak on "Scouting and the Boy Problem".

Music will be furnished by the Philo orchestra and by one of Miss Borge's classes.

COUNCIL ACTS TO IMPROVE HEALTH

Favor Clean Up By Everyone Next Week. Will Furnish Teams.

MOSQUITOES MUST DIE

Make Maximum Appropriation of $100 to Buy Crude Oil With Which to Treat Stagnant Water.

Besides routine business the subject of health occupied a greater part of the Town Council's time at their regular April meeting in the Fire Engine House Wednesday evening. The week of April 11 was fixed by the Council as the time to clean up. The action was taken in response to a request made by Miss Kate Briel, county nurse, representing the State Department, calling attention to the fact that everywhere in the state this week is being observed as The-Week-That Makes-The-Summer-Safe.

Four teams will be provided on Thursday and Friday of next week to cart away the rubbish which the residents are requested to place in rear of their lots. It was urged in a letter from the State Department of Health that an effort be made by borough authorities to rid the town of spots that threatened its health and that a special plea be made to the citizens to co-operate in the movement this year.

Not only is it the purpose of the clean up week to rid the town of unsightly rubbish collected in many places during the winter but to eradicate the breeding places of flies and mosquitoes.

Dr. Charles H. Huber presented the plan previously announced whereby the Boy Scouts of town under his and Dr. Albert Billheimer's direction would wage a fight against the mosquito and the fly and asked the Council for a maximum appropriation of $100 to be used for the purchase of crude oil to be used on pools that can not be drained. Dr. Huber explained that it was the intention of the Boy Scouts to make a map of Gettysburg and the country for one-quarter of a mile outside the borough limits. Each mosquito breeding pool or place where stagnant water collects will be treated with oil, thereby killing the larva of the pest which breeds in such places.

It was pointed out that the town folk suffered greatly from mosquitoes last summer and that since other towns had been completely rid of the pest by the use of crude oil at the proper places, the appropriation asked would be well worth the results obtained. Mr. Peckman seconded the motion of Dr. Huber's appropriating $100. The vote was not unanimous for the proposal.

Request was made to the Council that action be taken toward cleaning the pavement and gutter on East Middle street at Minter's store The matter was referred to the borough health officer, who has full power to act in such cases.

NEW DAY AND NEW WAY IN BUSINESS

Attorney General Daugherty Issues Warning to Violators of Law.

TIME NOW TO MEND WAYS

Says Reports From Some Sections Say Building Material Situation Needs Considerable Improving.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 7—A general warning to business that department of Justice officials will countenance no violation of law was sounded today by Attorney General Daugherty.

"The country", Mr. Daugherty said, "should take notice of a new day and a new way" and that those who had been guilty of illegal practices should not "close their eyes". His statement, he added, was a "modest but emphatic warning to those for whom it was intended and could be regarded as an opportunity for any of those who should mend their ways to do so."

The Attorney General said the Department of Justice did not intend to block business in any way but that it did intend to enforce the law. He pointed out that while the profiteering section of the Lever Act had been declared unconstitutional the department still could proceed under the Sherman anti-trust law. Reports from some sections of the country are that the building material situation is "intolerable," Mr. Daugherty said and the department of Justice desires to assist in any way it can to improve it.

STOCK REPORT

Prices Drop Back After Moderate Acceleration.

(By Associated Press)

New York, April 7—After the moderate overnight acceleration, buying orders were satisfied in the stock market and prices dropped back this morning. Cables dealing the latest aspects of the British coal strike provoked short selling. Motors, steels equipments and leathers were the first to yield, falling 1 to 1½ points under yesterday's final quotations and Mexican petroleum lost the greater part of its early rise. Twin City Rapid Transit, yesterday's strongest feature, reacted 2¾ points. Among the few stocks to show support were the coppers and Western Union, the latter advancing 2 points. Call money opened at 5½ per cent on further liberal offerings.

DENY WAGE REDUCTION

Labor Board Takes Action On New York Central Cut.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, April 7—Permission to make provisional reduction of the wages of unskilled labor on the New York Central railroad was denied by the railroad labor board here today. The railroad recently requested permission to put cuts of from 17 to 31 per cent into effect April 1. The dispute was taken to the labor board after the railroad and the employees had conferred.

The dispute between the New York Central and the unskilled labor employes over a reduction of wages will be heard April 18 in connection with similar cases which have been filed by other railroads.

PLAN TO DO AWAY WITH RED TAPE

Soldier Relief Work to Be Placed Under One Head.

TO CONSOLIDATE BUREAUS

Commission Find Serious Shortage of Hospitals. Congress Will Be Asked For Appropriations.

Washington, D. C., April 7—Consolidation under one head of all Government bureaus dealing with ex-soldier relief to function directly for the President will be the chief recommendation made to President Harding by the special commission which concluded its inquiry into Government relief work here yesterday. Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago, chairman of the commission, announced last night that actual drafting of the report to be submitted to the President would begin today in executive session.

The new bureau will be known probably as "the veterans' rehabilitation administration," although a half-dozen names have been suggested. Its head will be selected by President Harding from among the most able men possessing a knowledge of all ex-service men's problems.

An analysis of the testimony taken during the two-day inquiry was before the members last night for study, so that when they meet today they will be prepared to put their ideas in the form of a report to the President.

Task Is Threefold One

Commission members were agreed yesterday that the crux of the problem centered in the phrase "veteran rehabilitation." While it was a single problem, they said, it naturally was divided into three needs which must be fulfilled for the ex-soldiers by the Government. They were, first, those of a physical nature; second, those of finance, and third, those dealing with industrial phases.

Heretofore these problems have been delegated to three separate and distinct organizations—the Public Health Service for medical treatment, the Bureau of War Risk for financial support and the Board of Vocational Education for industrial rehabilitation.

These organizations will be grouped, according to the commission's decision, under a central authority, eliminating duplication and conflict between the existing agencies, which, it was said, had resulted in men being transferred from one jurisdiction to another without physical, financial or industrial benefits.

Hospital Shortage Serious

The commission's findings, it was said, will show serious conditions with reference to shortage of hospital facilities, especially as affecting tubercular and mental cases. This condition will be cited to illustrate the need for new hospitals, for which an appropriation will probably be asked of Congress.

Legislation will also be asked by the commission in its report to accomplish consolidation of the existing bureau and decentralization of the field service, so that those in need may apply to relief stations and boards in their home districts, rather than to Washington or more distant bureaus.

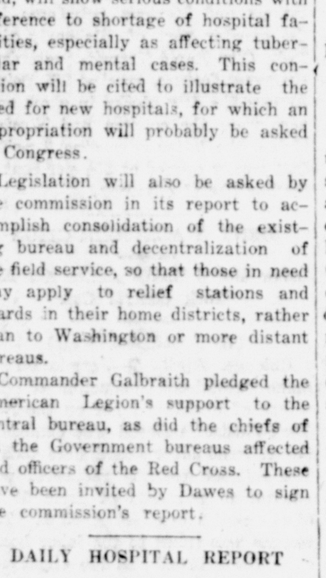

Commander Galbraith pledged the American Legion's support to the central bureau, as did the chiefs of all the Government bureaus affected and officers of the Red Cross. These have been invited by Dawes to sign the commission's report.

FIVE KILLED WHEN FLYER SPILLS

Serious Wreck in Kentucky. Royal Palm Limited Leaves Rails.

Comerset, Ky., April 7—Two persons were killed and thirty injured, four fatally in a wreck of the Royal Palm Limited, northbound, on the Southern Railway at New River, Tenn., yesterday afternoon. A special train bearing the dead and injured arrived here at 8.30 o'clock Wednesday evening. Four died on the train and in a hospital here.

A number of the injured are not expected to live.

The dead, who have been identified, are Joe Kramer, Chicago; and William Parks, aged 87, Soldiers' Home, Grand Rapids, Mich.

The unidentified dead include a little girl, a woman and a man. Three coaches were overturned and three sleeping cars derailed. The wreck, which was due, according to railroad men, to buckling or spreading of the rails, occurred just north of New River, Tenn.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 7—A Pullman conductor telegraphed headquarters last night that the Royal Palm on the Cincinnati Southern Railroad had been wrecked at New River, that his car was smashed and five people killed. He also reported that another Pullman and several passenger coaches were wrecked.

The train was bound from Jacksonville, Fla., to Chicago.

The engine and three coaches were overturned and three sleepers were derailed, but remained upright, the reports said.

CONFERENCE BREAKS

English Situation No Nearer Solution. Rail Men Out.

(By Associated Press)

London, April 7—A complete break up of the conference between representatives of the miners, the owners and the government for settling the coal strike was announced in the house of Commons by Premier Lloyd George this afternoon. The failure of the conference Mr. Lloyd George declared came when Miners Federation refused to allow the pump men to return to work until the miners' condition of a nation wage system and a national profit pool had been accepted. The Premier added that since it had been made clear the Miners' Federation would not consider any settlement except on acceptance of their demands, the government relying on assistance of great mass of people must take every means in power to meet the situation.

Rail Men Back Miners

London, April 7—The national union of railroad men today unanimously decided to support the coal miners in their strike.

The executive body of the railroad men's union decided to consult immediately with the transport workers' organization for the purpose of taking the most effective and immediate steps to assist the miners.

FIND NEW SNAG IN LONDON CRISIS

Federation of Miners Refuse to Instruct Pumpmen to Work During Negotiations.

PARLEY AT A STANDSTILL

Impossible to Go On, Says George, Until Men Reconsider. Strike May Cripple All England.

London, April 7—A hitch developed yesterday evening in the proposed resumption of negotiations between representatives of the striking coal miners and the mine owners, it was announced in the House of Commons by David Lloyd George, the Prime Minister.

He said the Miners' Federation had just informed him it was unable to see its way clear to instruct the mine pumpmen (whose duty it is to keep the mines clear of water) to resume work during the negotiations.

Lloyd George declared it would be quite impossible for the negotiations to proceed unless this obstacle was overcome, and he hoped the members representing the miners would exercise their influence to induce the federation to reconsider its stand on this point.

The great industrial crisis with which Great Britain was faced yesterday morning as a result of the bitter wage war between the mine owners and the miners, with strikes by the railway men and the transport workers, in addition to the miners' strike, threatening the public, has found at least temporary relief.

At the eleventh hour Lloyd George intervened with an invitation to both sides of the mining dispute to meet representatives of the Government and reopen negotiations. After serious deliberation the contending forces decided to accept the mediation offer.

No time has as yet been set for the reopening of the discussions, but the acceptance of the Premier's initiation, it is pointed out, can be taken only to mean that the colleagues of the miners in the triple alliance—the railroad men and the transport workers—will take no active measures to support the miners while the peace negotiations are proceeding.

This ray of hope pierced the black industrial clouds just at the time when it seemed certain the storm was about to break and involve Great Britain in the greatest disaster in its history. The great coal industry was already at a standstill, with many mines going to ruin, and dependent industries, such as the steel business, closing down.

The transport workers of the entire country on Wednesday decided to support the miners to the fullest extent, which meant a general transport strike, if necessary, and the railwaymen were credited with the intention of taking similar action, which would result in the complete tie-up of all the country's business.

Meantime the Government was distributing troops, diverting warships to various important ports and making other precautionary moves. To the general public it looked like a fight to the bitter end.

At this juncture, Lloyd George stepped in with his mediation proposal.

The Prime Minister last night invited the executive committee of the miners' federation to meet him early Thursday morning to discuss the coal strike situation.

Miners Accept Arbitration.

At the meeting of the triple alliance this afternoon, at which it had been intended to determine what action should be taken to support the miners, a decision was postponed. J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railway Men, merely announced that the triple alliance had "considered how best to assist the miners in their struggle," and that "the miners answered satisfactorily all the questions put to them."

Mob of Workers at Bruck Mob Train. Attempt to Enter Car.

Buchs, Switzerland, April 7—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary is back in Switzerland after his unsuccessful attempt to reseat himself upon the Hungarian throne. He crossed the Austrian-Swiss frontier on his return journey from Hungary at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Austrian Mob Holds Up Train

Vienna, April 7—A demonstration against former Emperor Charles in Bruck, lower Austria, last night, which resulted in the holding up of the train on which he is proceeding to Switzerland for five hours, was much more serious than censored accounts given out in Vienna early yesterday indicated, it was learned.

Eight hundred workers were concealed in the waiting room of the railway station in Bruck, and on the arrival of the train smashed the doors and windows and attempted to enter the train, climbing on the roofs of the cars and shouting: "Bring him out!" Drag him out!" "He must hear us!"

Train Backs Out

One of the Entente officers accompanying Charles appeared and addressed the crowd to show it what the consequences would be if their action should result in preventing the continuation of the ex-Emperor's journey. He asked the workmen whether they wanted the former ruler to the east or west of them, and declared they had only to speak the word and the train immediately would return to Hungary. The crowd began to shout: "Let us see him: we have something he must hear."

mind, and your assurance of the continued co-operation of the Gettysburg people prompts this letter.

"We expect to have the plans complete to ask for bids on the additional unit at Gettysburg by the fifteenth instant.

"From your letter we also assume that your Body will protect us, at least for the time, from competing industries. If we are not right on this assumption, please advise us quickly."

In regard to that paragraph it is the desire of the Eagle officials that no new plants be brought into Gettysburg until their present plans are completed. In view of their attitude toward the Eagle company the Chamber intends to obey that request and not endorse any movement to erect or establish additional industries here for the present. The problem of obtaining labor, they point out, would then become serious.

"As a matter of information," continued the letter, "we have today donated $1,000 to the Annie M. Warner hospital; donations to be made in accordance with plan outlined; that is covering a five year period. We have the further understanding that should we be able to double the Gettysburg unit in a comparatively short time we will also double our contribution to the hospital."

URGES AID FOR VETERANS

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 7—Organization of a veterans' service administration consolidating existing governmental bureaus having to do with treatment of disabled service men is recommended in a report submitted today to President Harding by Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago, chairman of the special commission investigating solders relief problems.

CHARLES SAYS HE WILL COME BACK

Believes Time is Not Right to Take Over His Power of Governing.

London, April 7—Prior to his departure from Steinamanger, former Emperor Charles expressed the conviction that he would return within a short period, and he was determined to do all in his power to bring about such a change of view in Europe as to make this possible, says the Steinamanger correspondent of the London Times. He drew up the following declaration, which it is understood, would be published yesterday by the Budapest government:

His Majesty leaves the country because of his conviction that the moment has not yet come for him to take over his right of governing. He cannot permit maintenance of his right to entail disturbances in the present state of peace. He leaves the land as the crowned king of Hungary.

(Signed) CHARLES.

Announcement is made by the Hungarian foreign office that former Emperor Charles, who had been at Steinamanger, arrived Tuesday at Fehring, where he went aboard the Austrian train bound for Switzerland.

The train left Fehring at 4.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and it is reported that the former monarch would reach the Swiss frontier early Wednesday.

The Viennese government is breathing easier since Charles has started on his return into exile. The visit of Charles, however, has resulted in two portfolios being vacated, Minister of War Mueller and Minister of the Interior Glaz having resigned. Both of them objected to a Volkswehr guard being placed over Charles claiming this was an indignity to the former Emperor.

NAB LAST BANK BANDIT

Man Wanted For Sandy Springs Job in Custody.

After a search of seven months, John Kelly, alias James James Whalen, wanted in connection with the robbery of the First National Bank of Sandy Spring, Maryland, and the murder of Francis M. Hallowell, and who with three other prisoners escaped from city jail on September 5 last, has been captured in Toledo, according to advices received by the Baltimore authorities yesterday from the Toledo police.

The Sandy Spring robbery occurred about a year ago. Hallowell, an official of the bank, who was behind the counter when the bandits dashed in, was slightly deaf, and failing to hear the command to throw up his hands, was shot down as he attempted to arise from his chair. Whalen, or Kelly, was arrested at Philadelphia a short time later and was identified as one of the bandits by the assistant treasurer of the bank.

tients never could be made to walk. In those extreme cases it is the hope of Mr. Gefvert and Dr. Torrence J. Rugh, the noted Philadelphia specialist who conducts the operations for the local branch of the Red Cross, that their patients may have the crooked limbs straightened to the extent of allowing them to use crutches.

In the cases of milder degree it is the expectation of Dr. Rugh and Mr. Gefvert that their patients will in time be able to walk.

One of the most difficult cases to handle is that of a sixteen-year-old girl whose legs were broken six times when she was small. Her limbs then became soft and would not develop. At the present time, however, her body is fully grown. She is one who hopes to have her twisted legs straightened by the use of braces. One nine-year-old boy was affected by infantile paralysis when he was two years old. His arm and leg both commenced to shrivel then but in the past seven years his arm has become alright. He is wondering if Dr. Rugh and Mr. Gefvert will be able to make his leg strong also.

One month ago Mr. Gefvert was in Gettysburg to inspect the children for braces. Wednesday afternoon he gave braces to the children he had previously inspected, numbering eight, and recommended operations or braces for the others. At the conclusion of this work he left by automobile for York to catch a train at 5:30 for Philadelphia.

Before departing he stated that Dr. Rugh is considering coming to Gettysburg to operate in the Hospital providing that he can obtain eight or ten cases.

Dr. H. M. Hartman, Gettysburg physician, was present at the hospital Wednesday afternoon to assist Mr. Gefvert during the examinations and applying of braces.

TREES TO HONOR SOLDIER DEAD

Earth From Each of 67 Counties to be Placed at Roots.

Pennsylvania's official observance of the first Arbor Day of 1921 will take the form of planting of native Pennsylvania trees in honor of men and women who served in the World War. The Governor will plant trees in Capitol Park Friday morning, while the mayors of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh will plant in their cities.

The trees to be planted are American elms grown in a State nursery in Tioga county, while soil from every county collected by men of the State Department of Forestry will be placed about every tree.

The following letter was sent to Mayor Moore by Governor Sproul:

"On Friday, April 8, at 2.30 p. m., I expect to plant in the grounds of the State Capitol at Harrisburg, a native Pennsylvania tree and dedicate it to the Pennsylvania men and women who served in the World War. The State-wide significance of the occasion will be emphasized by placing soil from each of the sixty-seven counties of the State about the roots of the tree. The planting will be accompanied by simple exercises, including an address by the Governor, one by the Chief Forester, and one by a representative of the American Legion.

"It has been suggested that you might be glad, on behalf of the City of Philadelphia and as its mayor, to take part in this tribute to our service men and women by planting a native tree in Independence Square at the same time on the same day. If the plan meets with your approval, the Department of Forestry will be glad to supply a tree and to furnish the soil from each county in the State.

"April 8, is first Arbor Day of the year. It seems perculiarly fitting that Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and the Capitol of the State should join in paying a tribute to the service men and women of the great war on that day."

HELPED THROW NEGROES IN RIVER

Farm Foreman Gives Damaging Testimony Against Williams in Murder Trial.

(By Associated Press)

Covington, Ga., April 6—Two negro farm laborers were thrown into Yellow River, bound and chained to a hundred pound of rock, according to testimony today given by Clyde Manning, negro farm foreman, in the trial of John S. Williams, Jasper county, plantation owner, for the murder of Lindsey Peterson, one of the two laborers found in the river.

Williams drove the machine that carried the negroes from the farm to the river bridge, helped get the bound men into car and ordered them thrown into the water, the witness said. Manning said he and Charles Chisholm another negro, had thrown the laborers over with chains around their necks and wires fastening their hands. "They were stubborn and begging," Manning said in a cool tone and "me and Charley rolled them over the bannister into the river."

Earlier in the day evidence of the Department of Justice agents as to peonage conditions at the Williams plantation was presented by the state to establish a motive for the alleged murder. The bodies of the two men were recovered in this county and the case of the other nine farm hands said to have been killed on William's farm will come up in Jasper county.

SAILS FOR HOME

Cardinal Dougherty Guest At Inter-Allied Union.

Paris, April 7—Cardinal Dougherty yesterday was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the Inter-Allied Union, of which Marshal Foch is the president.

The sixty guests comprised men prominent in French political, military, clerical and social life, and Hugh C. Wallace, the American Ambassador; Consul General Thackara, James Hazen Hyde and other Americans. The French guests included Marshal Joffre, General Mangin, Cardinal Dubois, the Marquis de Shambrun and Colonel Phillippe Bunau-Varilla.

Cardinal Dougherty, in replying to the greetings extended him, assured France that the United States was her friend and that he would aid in perpetuating the friendship.

The cardinal sailed for New York yesterday on the steamship Olympic.

According to police, Jackson told them before he died that in addition to Mrs. Straus and himself, four other persons had drunk from a bottle which he had purchased at a "speakeasy."

WHEAT CONDITION GOOD

Washington, April 7—The condition of winter wheat throughout the country is "generally favorable," says a Department of Agriculture review of domestic crop conditions. Damage to the crop from the recent freeze was said to have been "negligible" and very little winter killing reported. The Hessian fly was said to be prevalent in all parts of Indiana, but no damage reported. Some fly damage was reported from Michigan, however.

JOHN DOUGH IS RECOVERING NOW

Regains Purchasing Power And Approaches Normal State Again.

John Dough is better, than you! Not recovered by any means, but able to sit up and take notice—and considerable nourishment.

That may be asserted in corroboration of an announcement received from Chicago a couple of days ago, to the effect that the "American dollar is coming back, and is displacing the thirty two-cent imitation posing as a dollar for the last four years."

John Dough, sometimes known familiarly as "Bill" (Dollar Bill) has been suffering from acute paralysis of purchasing power, but his intimate attendants pronounce the worst danger over, and that he is positively on the mend.

It will take some time, however, say those attendants (researchers and statisticians) to make "Bill" the man he was in 1913 and 1914.

But in some directions he already has shown amazing recuperative powers. Why, at present he can tackle a pound of best creamery butter and a dozen new-laid eggs and come back with change in his pocket.

But the case of the little nickel seems almost hopeless. It surprises the public with an occasional cup of coffee—but where are the "two-fer" cigars, the chocolate bars, the good-sized drink at the soda fountain, the pairs of shoe laces and the hundred and one things to which the nickel used to be the "Open Sesame?" They no longer exist for the price.

But the password to the public remains "There is hope!" Better times are coming—are here. While there is no change in price in some commodities, and while some things are higher than a year ago, the backbone of the H. C. of L. is broken! John Dough is on the mend!

The Beauty of Lichens.

The famous "Crimson Cliffs" of Greenland, which extend for miles, derive their splendid color from red lichen. They rise 2,000 feet from the water's edge. The Golden Gate in the Yellowstone owes its name to the yellow lichen of its lofty walls.

ACADEMY GIVES HIGH A TUSSLE

Effective Twirling of Armor, Who Fanned 20, Wins. Score 5-2.

(By Henry M. Scharf)

Outclassing their opponents in every department the High School baseball team defeated the Academy nine on the Playground Wednesday afternoon before a large crowd by a 5-2 score. It was the best game of the season, featured with moments of sharp hitting and fielding and sensational pitching.

One man stood in the way of the Prepites and was their stumbling block in every attempt of rallying. Out on the pitching peak was perched "Bucky" Armor, who threw baseballs during the afternoon with such a degree of efficiency that he made twenty Prep hitters walk back to the bench after taking three vicious smacks at the air. His offerings were found for but five hits, all of a scratch variety and only two out of the infield. "Bucky" wasn't in a generous frame of mind either for during the entire time he issued not a pass to first. At bat he crashed out a double which sent across two runs in the second and which ultimately decided the game. Therefore it can be said that Mr. Armor won his own game.

Coach Reynolds decided on a change in his lineup preparatory to the Baltimore City College game on Saturday, hence Weikert was removed from third and placed behind the pan while Peters cavorted in center-garden and Glenn Bream guarded the look-in corner. Peters has been troubled with a sore arm this season and his pegging to bases has been woefully weak. His presence in the lineup is essential, due to his batting, therefore he was shifted to the outfield with the intention of working Hunter behind the plate. Hunter's knee has been slow in healing and he is not yet in condition to put on the mask, so Weikert will catch until his recovery. Although showing inexperience in their positions those involved in the change performed well, especially Peters, who robbed Overmiller of a possible double when he snared his line drive in the eighth.

High school did their scoring in the second when Musselman singled and Peters was hit by White. "Muss" scored on G. Bream's single while Armor sent both Peters and G. Bream across with his crashing double. Two infield errors and a hit allowed Prep to score one in the fifth and two successive hits sent another over in the sixth. In the seventh a hit, an error and a pair of fielder's choices scored one for High School and by clever base running by Oyler tallied another.

Both teams played excellent ball, especially High, who look in good trim for Saturday's big game in the Monumental City. The work of Senft, the Academy catcher who has signed with the Hagerstown Blue Ridge club, was closely watched. He made two scratch singles and fanned twice in four times up, besides furnishing a little comedy for the crowd when he fell victim to the ancient and time worn hidden ball trick worked by "Bob" Martin in the second inning.

For High School, "Bucky" Armor was the all around star with "Hen" Musselman winner of second honors. For Prep, Senft and Overmiller performed well.

Biglerville High School Played The Independents.

Biglerville lost an interesting game to the Littlestown Independents on Wednesday afternoon by a score of 9 to 3. The Biglerville lads were to have played the lower end high school but through a misunder standing, Littlestown was unprepared to play.

Biglerville played rather erratic ball. Knouse pitched well, but lost control in the pinches and Littlestown took advantage of every misplay. The score follows:

OFFICIALS FAVOR THESE MEASURES

Change in Small Game Law. Killing Bucks With Two Prongs.

Game Commissioner John M. Phillips, who has given sixteen years to the protection and propagation of game in Pennsylvania, has made a plain statement as to what the State Game Commission would like to see adopted in the way of legislation. He did so because of the numerous statements and counter statements being made.

The legislation desired, as Mr. Phillips puts it, is as follows:

"The month of November only for all small game, including woodcock and rabbits, to conserve game and produce better sport. Open season on woodcock during October means destruction of much small game. The present two weeks in December on rabbits interferes with big game hunting; most of the State is then covered with snow when breeding stock. Maryland and New Jersey prohibit hunting on snow altogether.

"Elimination of special clause at end of Catlin bill permitting training of dogs from the first of August to the first of May, which means extermination of much young game.

"The killing of bucks only with eight-inch horns or two prongs in order to prevent deterioration of stock, provide better trophies and more meat.

"The clause pertaining to bear in the Catlin bill as it gives the Game Commission the power to control and exterminate bears whenever they become a nuisance in any county.

"Recommended this bill (Long bill) as it now stands giving Board power to revoke licenses, change the position of the tag and especially to clarify the wording of the present act in the two sections amended."

TO LECTURE FOR CLASS

In presenting Humphrey C. Deibert at Biglerville on Saturday evening the Senior Class of the High School of that place have secured one of the most popular Chautauqua entertainers on the lecture platform. His lecture on "Folks You and I Have Met" has been a distinct success, being filled with quaint humor and subtle sarcasm. The sale of tickets has been quite brisk but there are many seats unreserved. Reservations may be made by 'phone or person at Thomas Brothers Department store.

RENT VS OWNERSHIP

IT IS UP TO YOU

Success does not come from without but from within you. Quit dodging facts. Look your future square in the eye. Don't dodge; tell yourself you know you ought to start.

Common sense tells you, we cannot give something for nothing, but we can, if you do your part, provide a long time loan with which to buy or build a home. Why pay rent?

Place yourself in a position to purchase a home at a monthly cost not exceeding rent. Buy a home of your own selection—for cash. Money talks when the price is made. Get the full advantage of a snap buy. Start! That's the big move! You can do it no matter what your income is.

In the ... years' rent you've paid for the house and the land, and you don't own a shingle on the roof.

A card, containing your full name and address will receive prompt attention.

BEFORE SPRING COMES, TONE UP YOUR BLOOD

Your Blood Needs the Help of Gude's Pepto-Mangan in Spirngtime to Overcome Drowsy, Listless Feelings Called "Spring Fever"

Pale Faces Caused by Bad Blood

That Tired, All-Gone Feeling Danger Signal That Your Blood Needs This Splendid Spring Tonic.

The blood that courses through your body in the arteries and veins is of the most vital importance to the healthy life of the body. The little red corpuscles are what carry life to the millions of cells that make up your body. The blood is also the vehicle that carries away most, if not all, of the waste products.

Springtime is the season when the body adjusts itself from the rigors of winter to the heat of summer. You notice how much sickness there is in the Spring? Perhaps there are weeks when you feel drowsy and listless, and you call it "Spring Fever." It is really your blood that has become weak and thin, and it needs help.

Take that good blood tonic—Gude's Pepto-Mangan. It will give the red corpuscles in your blood new power to carry fresh oxygen to the cells all over the body. You'll notice a change for the better in a few days. It brings the color back to pale faces and lifts you out of tired, all-gone feelings so that you enjoy full vigor.

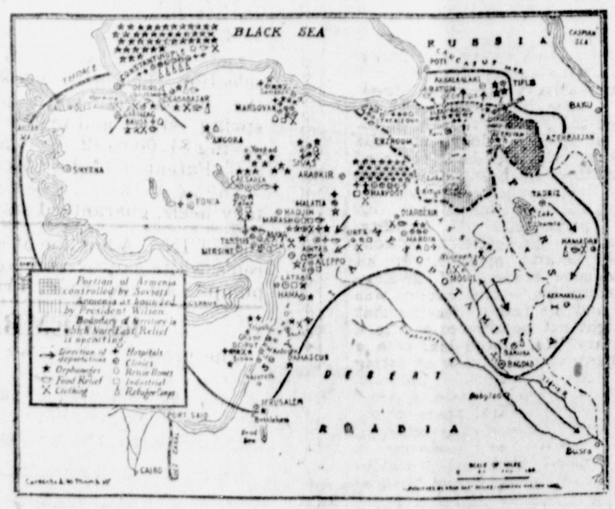

Spring is the time for a good blood tonic. Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan so that you can enjoy the most beautiful season of the year. Get it at your druggist's, but be sure it is the genuine, with "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" printed on the package. It is sold in both tablet and liquid form. They have exactly the same medicinal value.—advertisement

Would You Trade Daddies?

Of course you wouldn't. But, say, boys, it wouldn't be bad to have a famous ball player like Johnny Evers of Chicago to teach you curves, would it? Johnny is showing his son, Jack, how to hold the ball for an inshoot.

The Newest Near East Geography

THE accompanying map aims to show the extent of the operations of Near East Relief and also by contrast how comparatively limited is the Armenian area in the Near East controlled by the Bolsheviki.

Wherever in the Near East there are destitute Armenians, Syrians, Greeks, Jews, Assyrians, or others, needy and oppressed, regardless of race or creed, there Near East Relief follows. From Constantinople to Bagdad, from Port Said to Baku, even into Persia, the protecting arms of Near East Relief have reached until today its work is far more extensive outside the country of Armenia than within.

Uncle Walt's Story

By Walt Mason

GENTLE CORRECTION

"PULSIFER seems mighty touchy," observed the retired merchant. "He was talking to me this morning and shooting holes through the king's English in his usual reckless way. I called his attention to a few of his grammatical errors. Instead of being grateful he shook his fist under my nose, and said that for three sous he would push my face through the back of my head. I can't understand that sort of conduct. I'd thank any man who would correct me when I make errors in my speech."

"In a horn you would," commented the hotelkeeper. "You think you put up a fine line of English when you are talking. You are satisfied you never make any bad breaks, so feel safe in saying you would welcome criticism, but if some sharp who is wise to all the fancy curves of the language came along, and showed you where you get off, you wouldn't wring his hand in an ecstasy of gratitude. No, doggone it, you would climb on his person and discolor one of his eyes.

"If there's any man makes me tired and sore, it's the one who calls me down when I am speaking a piece, and tells me I am making Lindley Murray roll over in his grave. I don't mind if there are only two of us present at the time, but when there are innocent bystanders around I get all worked up and insist upon a hand to hand conflict. No good sport would do such a thing. If you don't like the way I talk, you can pass up this hotel when making your daily rounds. If you must hand me a package of criticism or admonition, send it by mail. Then I can read it in the privacy of my own bed room, and there won't be anybody around to raise a horse laugh.

"My education was sadly neglected when I was young. I went to school only a few months and everything I learned was wrong, for the teacher was a farmer who took up educational work as a recreation when the weather prevented him from cultivating his beans. The little I know I accumulated by reading the newspapers and a few dime novels.

"Consequently I am always taking a fall out of the language. I never could wise myself to the fine points of grammar, and it was only recently I quit saying 'I done it,' and 'I have went.' Every now and then an aleck stops me in the middle of a discourse and shows me where I am wrong, and if there is any way of getting even with that man I always do. There was a drummer for a shoe house who used to frequent this place. I took a liking to him, and always gave him the best room and saw that his eggs were fresh from the vines, and looked after his comfort generally.

"One day I was telling him a story, and he stopped me just when I was approaching the peroration, and began to explain the difference between 'shall' and 'will.' It seemed that I always used one of these words when I should have used the other, and in the goodness of his heart he explained the whole business to me. When he had made everything clear he asked me to finish my story, but I told him, in a biting sort of way, that I might wound him to the quick by misplacing a few more words, so I would spare him that infliction.

"Then he saw he was in bad, and he began telling me how he always liked to be corrected, and he took it for granted that others felt the same way about it, and the more he talked the less use I had for him.

"He registered here many times after that, always got the worst room in the house and if there was a particularly tough steak on hand, it went to him. He tried his hardest to square himself, and was always looking at me, hoping to see a winning smile on my chaste lips, but he never got anything but the arctic glare, and I suppose he's kicking himself, even to this day, because he made that break. And if you want to queer yourself with all your friends, you'll keep up this thing of telling people of their mistakes."

A Shrewd Man.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB

THE importance for the business or professional woman of belonging to a club is a real one. Women's work both in business and the professions is still in a fluid condition. Changes are in progress, new standards are being established, and the effect of the vote is being felt. To get the benefit of these changes, a woman needs to know what is being done in her special neighborhood and by her group of workers. There is no better way of doing this than by joining a club, especially a club affiliated with the Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

It is not only the direct contact with other women working in your own field that benefits you in such a club, but the contact with women in other branches. With that comes a widening of opportunity. The woman not happy in her work can often find another opening through her club acquaintances and club activities. She is constantly aware of what is going on, and she sees what is being done by other women. Together with them she can direct her effort to putting through proposed schemes for bettering the standing of women earners.

A good business club for women is an asset to any community. If there is no such club in your community, start one. Get the other women together, get in touch with the federation, and start your club. It will be an assistance to every business and professional woman in your town.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"DUN."

LIKE "boycott," "jazz," "buncombe" and a number of other words which are now acknowledged members of the English family, "dun" had its origin in a man of that name—a certain John Dun, who was constable in England during the early part of the last century.

Dun, as might be supposed, was a past master of his profession, a successful collector of debts. No job was too hard for him to tackle, no debtors too callous for him to prick their conscience or shame them into payment in one way or another. One of the constable's pet schemes was to call upon a debtor twice, and on each of his first two visits he would wear his ordinary clothes. Then, if the debtor still refused to pay and there was no doubt that obligation should be met, Dun would adopt the stratagem of dressing in some outlandish costume—a scarlet cloak or a pair of green tights—so as to make himself as conspicuous as possible. Thus attired and ringing a bell in order further to proclaim the reason for his visit, he would return, and it was seldom that the debtor withstood more than one of these public announcements of his delinquency.

Because Constable Dun was so successful in the collection of money due it became common in such cases to say, "You'll have to send Dun for your money" or "You'll have to Dun him to get it," and the expression persisted long after the constable himself was dead and forgotten.

Prostate Gland Troubles Should Have Immediate Attention

Watch the symptoms was Dr. Carey's advice. The tiniest signals often indicate that the kidneys are ailing and need attention. Dry skin, for instance, and little specks floating before the eyes. Sometimes the feet feel heavy as if your shoes were full of lead. Often the joints ache or you have quick, darting pains shooting through the back or side. Then again that frequent desire to empty the bladder, cold, clammy feet and just a little puffiness under the eyes. Occasionally the hands or feet swell slightly and the palms of the hands are moist. Don't neglect them—you cannot afford to take any chances with your kidneys.

If you ever have the faintest suspicion that your kidneys are weak or your bladder is irritated the wisest thing you can do is to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshroot Prescription No. 777 at once. Many thousands of cases have been conquered by Marshroot if taken in time.

Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription at the People's Drug Store and all reliable pharmacists the country over. Keep in mind the name, Dr. Carey's Marshroot Prescription, No. 777. No other medicine can take its place.

What the Presidents Did in Their Youth

James Knox Polk, the Eleventh President

James K. Polk Assisting His Father as Surveyor

THE Polk family lived in the western part of North Carolina until the year 1806; then Samuel Polk, the father of the future President, with his wife and children, emigrated some two or three hundred miles further west to the rich valley of the Tennessee. Samuel Polk was a plain, unpretentious farmer, but of an enterprising character, and, attracted by the glorious accounts of the fertile valleys of Tennessee, he determined to move thither and achieve a competence for himself. Having purchased a quantity of land Samuel Polk employed himself in its cultivation; following, at intervals, the occupation of surveyor. In the hard toil of a new farm in the wilderness, James K. Polk spent the early years of his childhood and his youth. Not only did he assist his father in the management of the farm, but was also his almost constant companion in his surveying excursions. They were frequently absent for weeks together, treading the dense forests and traversing the rough cane-brakes which then covered the face of the country, and exposed to all the changes of the weather, and the dangers and the vicissitudes of a life in the woods. On these occasions, it was the duty of James to take care of the packhorses and the camp equipage, and to prepare the scanty and frugal meals of the surveying party.

Very early in life James developed a taste for reading and expressed the strongest desire to obtain a liberal education. His mother's training had rendered him methodical in his habits, had taught him punctuality and industry, and had inspired him with lofty principles of morality. James, in the common schools, rapidly became proficient in all the common branches of an English education. His health was frail, and his father, fearing that he might not be able to endure a sedentary life, placed him with a merchant with the view of fitting him for commercial pursuits. After a few weeks James returned home. After several years in college, Polk entered the office of Felix Grundy at Nashville to study law. While at Nashville Polk met Andrew Jackson, the gallant defender of New Orleans, and already occupying a proud position among the great men of the nation. General Jackson was warmly attached to Polk and always took a deep interest in his political advancement. James K. Polk became a successful lawyer and was elected Governor of Tennessee, which office was a step upward to the Presidency.

BANS BARE KNEES

Detroit Mayor Displeased At Performance On Theater Runway.

Detroit, April 7—Mayor James Couzens, displeased by the display of bare-kneed girls promenading down runways in a recent musical revue, has put the ban on bare knees, calves and thighs.

Lieutenant Lester Potter, police censor, carried out the Mayor's order yesterday by issuing an order requiring all chorus girls in Detroit theaters to wear tights.

"I gave them some latitude and they kicked over the traces," Potter said. "So I have decided to solve the problem by a blanket order requiring all women appearing in theater, cabarets, or other public places to wear tights."

HOME NEAR PRINCETON

Wilson Planning Handsome Country Residence.

Philadelphia, April 7—Woodrow Wilson is to have a handsome country home near Princeton. Charles Z. Klauder, Philadelphia architect, is designing it.

Much has been said of Mr. Wilson's new residence in Washington, but it is not generally known that he was contemplating an establishment in the country.

The Ex-President's country home, it is understood will be erected outside of Princeton, in one of the most lovely parts of that beauteous section of New Jersey. The building will be a modest, but substantial structure.

Nation's Credit on Sound Basis

A UNIT IN THE NEW AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE—IT IS IMPORTANT THAT OUR EXPORT TRADE BE FOSTERED TO PRESERVE OUR DOMESTIC PROSPERITY

GANSEVOORT MARKET, NEW YORK, A GREAT FOOD DISTRIBUTING CENTRE—BOUNTIFUL CROPS PROMISE EARLY RETURN TO NORMAL FOOD PRICES.

A STEEL RAIL HOT OFF THE GRIDDLE—AS ADDITIONAL TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES ARE PROVIDED THE CREDIT SITUATION WILL STEADILY IMPROVE.

MILLIONS IN GOLD BEING DELIVERED AT NEW YORK SUB-TREASURY—OUR ENORMOUS GOLD RESERVE MAKES OUR CREDIT POSITION FUNDAMENTALLY SOUND.

By FRANCIS H. SISSON,
Vice President Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

We may arrive at a better understanding of the problems presented by the present stringent credit situation perhaps if we recall some of the important factors that have created present conditions. The tremendous losses caused by the World War, of course, were primarily responsible. To meet the emergencies of war the people of this country sent billions of dollars in food, fuel, munitions and loans to Europe.

Production and distribution in the United States, it is estimated, has been increased from 15 to 20 per cent since 1914. Commodity prices generally increased 140 per cent from 1914 to the peak in February, 1920, and they have fallen only 25 per cent since. Consequently a tremendous and unparalleled demand for capital was created. Where a bank, for instance, had lent $1,000 to a business concern in 1914 it became necessary in 1919 to lend $2,400 to perform the same business service.

While deposits in the banks increased from about eighteen billion dollars in 1914 to thirty-eight billion dollars in 1920, loans and discounts increased from fifteen billion dollars in 1914 to thirty-one billion dollars in 1920. The Federal Reserve banks in 1915 discounted bills for member banks to the amount of one hundred and sixty-one million dollars. In 1919 the amount of bills discounted by the Federal Reserve Banks aggregated seventy-nine billions of dollars.

The period of unusually active business and rising prices following the war was characterized by a wave of extravagant buying by domestic consumers. Speculation was rampant. Capital expenditures in preparation for meeting the unusual demand on the part of the public for goods naturally tended to be excessive in many instances. In the first ten months of 1920 industrial financing broke all records, with an aggregate of more than two billion dollars in bonds, notes and stocks.

This period was also characterized by extraordinary demands on the part of foreign countries for American goods. It was to be expected, however, that with the progressive industrial recuperation of the recently belligerent countries there would be a reduced demand eventually for American goods in those markets. And domestic buying could not be expected to continue indefinitely on an extravagant scale. Accordingly, in order to forestall the possibility of an extremely dangerous industrial situation in this country, it became necessary to check the further expansion of credit in general.

The logical corrective for threatening over-expansion was the raising of discount rates by the Federal Reserve Banks, accompanied by a purpose to restrict credit accommodation to those borrowers whose collateral gave promise of retaining safe margins of value under conditions of probable commodity price recessions. The application of these means has helped to bring about a more normal business activity without an intervening period of widespread and sustained depression.

Yet, despite the tremendous increase in commodity prices and wages, it is noteworthy that the cost of money has increased, on the average, less than twenty-five per cent. In the face of greatly increased operating expenses and losses, inevitable in business reaction, the bankers have been ultra-conservative in fixing rates. Money has been the cheapest element in business enterprise.

It is the function of the banks to vitalize credit by productive processes and make it of use to the community. The first and highest duty of bankers is to put available credit in usable form and to distribute and apportion it for the good of the whole community. In discharging this duty bankers must exercise their best judgment and always give heed to the condition of their reserves.

It must be recognized, of course, that general reduction in commodity prices cannot be affected without hardship to many elements of the business community. Any business carrying on hand stocks of raw materials or finished goods generally incurs the risk of depreciating values. When prices are rising, profits are in part the result of appreciation in the values of such holdings, and conversely, in a period of declining values the risk of monetary loss is incurred. In a period of rising prices the credit demands are progressive and tend, if met, to stimulate further price advances. Accordingly, the banks must necessarily exercise restraint upon the expanding volume of credit when it threatens to exceed the limits of safety. In the very nature of the case, moreover, it is not the function of the banking system to endeavor to prevent a recession of prices which the state of production and consumption requires.

The fact that the inevitable readjustments have thus far been effected without really serious difficulties gives promise that there will be further gradual readjustments with a more prompt resumption of normal prosperity than would have been possible had the process of credit expansion been unhindered.

The speed with which approximate stabilization in business is to be brought about will depend largely upon developments abroad, particularly in Europe. Industrial recuperation in eastern and central Europe has been slow in the two years since the armistice, and in many other countries, including some in which post-war recuperation and readjustment have made gratifying progress, there is now a slackening of business activity comparable to that in this country.

This condition is a fundamental factor affecting our foreign trade. Inasmuch as our productive capacity in general is greater than is required for domestic needs, it is extremely important that our export trade be fostered during the remainder of the transition period. The financing of our export operations, in fact, will continue for some time one of the chief concerns of American bankers.

The banks as a whole are in a sound condition and the necessary machinery and organization are at hand to provide for the continuation of an orderly domestic business readjustment in a period of declining prices.

The Federal Reserve System was established in November, 1914, but not until June, 1917, shortly after our declaration of war, was there adopted the present requirement that all legally prescribed reserves of member banks should be kept in Reserve banks. The real strength of the credit position of the banks depends, of course, upon the character of the paper they hold, its liquidity and intrinsic worth. Through the operation of the Federal Reserve System, however, a large part of the paper held by member banks has been given a liquidity which was formerly unknown.

The present strength of the reserve position of the Federal Reserve System is indicated by the potential, but unused, capacity for further credit expansion by the Federal Reserve banks through their members.

On December 3, 1920, the Federal Reserve banks held gold reserves of $2,922,675,000. Of this amount, $1,743,[illegible] constituted part of the required reserves against deposit and note liabilities, leaving $279,092,150 of free gold (free gold consists of gold holdings in excess of the 40 per cent required as reserve for outstanding Federal Reserve notes, 5 per cent reserve against Federal Reserve Bank notes, and the amount, which, with other cash holdings, equals thirty-five per cent of the net deposits, required as reserve for such deposits under the Federal Reserve act). Net deposits and note liabilities totalled $5,194,236,000, representing a credit structure about three times the gold holdings, other than free gold, or about 2.7 times the total reserves, other than free gold. If all the free gold should serve to support additional members' reserve deposits in amount 2.7 times the free gold, members' deposits would increase by $753,548,805.

According to the report of the condition of 825 member banks as of November 12, 1920, their aggregate net deposits were about 10.2 times their reserve balances with Federal reserve banks. If a 10 to 1 ratio of deposits to reserve balances is assumed for all member banks, the potential increase of $753,548,805 in members' reserve deposits represents a potential increase in deposits held by members of about $7,535,000,000.

It is not suggested, however, that any such expansion of the credit structure on the basis of the existing free gold in the Federal Reserve banks should occur. The free gold is necessarily subject to considerable fluctuations, and it would be dangerous to expand credit at any time to the theoretical maximum limit. The figure is presented merely to show the conservatism with which the problem of bank credits is being met.

In view of our fundamentally sound credit position, therefore, it would seem that what we need above all else now is a stabilization of prices at new levels that will bring consumers back into the market. And not until the readjustment has been carried through the list, and prices of basic commodities, such as steel and coal, recede and general retail prices fall to lower levels, can we find a new starting point.

But stabilization of commodity prices can be accomplished only by greater production at lower costs, in order that goods may be offered to the public at prices which will revive buying. There is still a vast unsatisfied demand for all kinds of products in this country, as well as throughout the world, but prices must become commensurate with purchasing power before business can hope to reach a stable basis. And the withholding of goods from the market, as well as every unnecessary delay in marketing them, lessens the available supply of credit by "freezing" the credit required to carry the goods until they are sold. So, also, do unwarranted strikes conceal credit, as well as interfere with productivity.

We cannot achieve the urgently needed stabilization of business conditions until those [illegible] merchants who are considering only present profits and [illegible] that temporary [illegible] permanent losses [illegible] themselves to [illegible] and cease [illegible] the operations [illegible]

But, while [illegible] period [illegible] sing is necessary [illegible] is wholesome [illegible] and fundamentally [illegible] in the United States [illegible] sound.

The [illegible] beneficial [illegible] facilities [illegible] ed through [illegible] and which has been [illegible] adding 600,000 freight [illegible] to the railroad service.

Another extremely important factor that is gradually but surely effecting a betterment in our industrial situation is increased efficiency per man among our workers. The drones are being driven from our industrial beehives. As a consequence, we are beginning to increase our production at lower costs, which, as I have pointed out, is absolutely essential to maintain our export trade and preserve our prosperity.

In view of all these factors, it would seem probable that an improvement in credit conditions will mark the early part of 1921, and that a new and more stable basis for business is in prospect. We should plan accordingly for the next twelve months with vision and courage—vision to see realities, and courage to face those realities and [illegible].

To be heroic in danger is little. To be heroic in change and sway of fortune is little. To be patient through the great chasm and pause of loss is little. But to be heroic is happiness; to bear yourselves gravely and righteously in the dazzling of the sunshine of morning; not to forget the God in whom you trust, when He gives you most; not to fail those who trust you when they seem to need you least; this is the difficult fortitude.—Ruskin.

The Call of the Hour

By REV. JOHN C. PAGE

Teacher of Bible Doctrine, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT—Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit.—Eph. 6:18.

The greatest need of the church and the world is Christian men and women who pray. Abraham prayed and made possible the preservation of a city, if only ten righteous people could have been found there. Moses prayed and God said, "Now shalt thou see what I will do," and Moses saw the power of God manifested for the deliverance of his people. Prayer changed things, and the humanly impossible was accomplished.

The promise of Jeremiah 33:3 was fulfilled many times before the words were written, as well as many times since. "Call unto me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not." This is God's call and challenge to faith. Some of His people have always believed and acted on this; others are now being aroused to its transcendent importance.

Expecting God to Answer.

There is a growing spirit of faith and expectation that God will manifest His saving and transforming power in answer to prayer. Not for naught have God's people gathered together in watch-night services; not in vain have faithful men held on in prayer these past years in spite of spiritual darkness; not without fruitage can the labors of the Great Commission Prayer League and kindred associations be.

Faith sees the cloud that is yet to break in blessing on the heads of God's people. It may not, at present, be "larger than a man's hand," but it is seen on the horizon of spiritual vision by those who pray. The call of the hour is for more recruits in the prayer warfare, and an advance into the front trenches with the continual cry, "Lord teach us to pray."

Bible teaching concerning prayer, like every other doctrine of Scripture, is progressive. There is "first the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear."

In the Old Testament prevailing prayer is linked with the quality of righteousness in the one who prays. Elijah is a striking example of this. He is presented as a man zealous for God and righteousness.

Conditions for Prevailing Prayer.

In the synoptic Gospels the dominant note for the prayer life is that of faith. Righteousness is not ignored, but to it faith is added. "All things whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer believing, ye shall receive." And again, "What things soever ye desire when ye pray, believe that ye receive them and ye shall have them."

This, of course, implies yieldedness to God and a life approved of God, and must be considered in the light of such a Scripture as 1 John 3:22, "Whatsoever we ask we receive of Him because we keep His commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in His sight."

In the Gospel by John, we are told to pray "in His name": "Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name He will give it you. If ye shall ask anything in my name I will do it." We are one with Christ in a vital spiritual union. We are called by His name. As a woman does business in the name of her husband, so the Christian is to do business in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Prayer is more than communion, it is a service of the highest kind. It is doing business in the name of Christ.

The New Testament Epistles add yet another condition for prevailing prayer to those of righteousness, faith and spiritual union with Christ. It is seen in our text, "Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit."

Praying in the Spirit is the additional condition here named. A Christian must learn to walk in the Spirit, that is, to walk by the help of the Spirit. Apart from this, his life will be a partial failure. So is it in the matter of prayer. To pray in the Spirit is simply to pray through the help of the Spirit.

Helped By the Holy Spirit.

"The Spirit helpeth our infirmities." These infirmities are more obvious in the matter of prayer than in any other spiritual exercise. We have been "made nigh by the blood of Christ," but our access to the Father is made real to us by the operation of the Holy Spirit within our hearts. It is only by His illuminating and energizing presence that we enter the battle ground of prayer; or, in other words, the place of real intercession, which becomes a battle ground against the principalities and powers and the rulers of the darkness of this world.

"The strong man" must be bound before we can enter in and spoil his goods by liberating those who are held captive by him. This binding power can be exercised by us only as we pray in righteousness, in faith, in His name, and in the Spirit. This is the need of the hour, "Lord, teach us to pray."

"There's a good deal of perplexity about being judge at a baby show." "Perplexity?" "Yes, sometimes the prettiest mothers have the homeliest babies."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"MID-CHANNEL"

Mid-Channel is laid in London and gets its name from a comparison of a crossing of the English Channel between Folkstone and Boulogne, and married life. All is clear sailing in the beginning, but when one reaches mid-channel, or passes the first few years of married life, the troubles are likely to commence. So also when mid-channel safely passed all is clear sailing.

WE ARE HERE BEFORE THE PUBLIC

to say that we have a full, complete line of ladies' and men's wear and we are selling it at the right price. The time of huge profits on goods is gone, as every body knows.

We are here, to give every one their moneys worth.

We can sell our goods as cheap if not cheaper than the next one, because we buy all our merchandise direct to our store from the factory—therefore you are getting the profit that the wholesaler or jobber would get.

You cannot always go, by what the advertisement says, the thing for you to do, is to come in and see for yourself.

You will find that we live up to our name, "The Leader"—We lead in prices and goods—that can not be equalled.

This Saturday, as every Saturday, we run quite a few specials--which will pay you to come in and look over, before going elsewhere.

It will pay you to do this.
